

Johnson Hesitates Over VP Choice

'Floating Down The River'

Rafting Scouts Have Lunch Here

Nineteen modernized Huckleberry Finns climbed ashore near the Midway Diner on the River Rd. about noon Monday as they made their first local stop in a planned 10-day, 450-mile river trip from their home in Elizabeth, Pa., to Cincinnati. They tied up at the Humble Oil Co. docks, had lunch at the nearby diner then resumed their downstream voyage.

The 17 Boy Scouts and two adult leaders are down-bound on the "Mike Finn," a three - section raft they built out of 104 55-gallon oil drums and lumber.

The two main sections of the craft are 20 feet square each and are used as sleeping and eating quarters. A smaller section in the rear of the raft houses four outboard motors, three for propelling the raft forwards and one in reverse.

Most of the material used in the raft's construction was donated by Elizabeth merchants, while the motors are borrowed. It took the scouts and their fathers nearly six weeks to complete the craft, which is valued at around $800.

Scoutmaster Charles Schaefer, one of the adult leaders, said the group shoved off from the Elizabeth Seaplane Base on the Monongahela River about 8:30 Saturday night. The party tied up for the night a few miles down the river from Elizabeth and then continued on Sunday morning, passing the Point in Pittsburgh about 10 a. m.

Sunday night, they put the raft ashore a few miles above Midland after they had locked through Montgomery Dam around 8:15. They then came on to East Liverpool Monday morning.

The other adult on the trip, Assistant Scoutmaster Howard Matthews, said the Coast Guard had supervised the project from the beginning, which includes safety precautions such as the boys wearing life jackets the entire time they are aboard. The group figured it is costing $16 each for the trip, including provisions and the life jackets.

Ranging in ages from 12 to 18, the boys are living entirely on the raft, except for occasional meat stops which was why they put in Monday on the River Rd. The "Huck Finns" plan to travel only during daylight hours, tying up at night to sleep.

The group will return home from their tie - up point in Cincinnati by bus or auto. It is estimated that the first raft trip of this distance attempted on the Ohio in recent years will conclude next Tuesday or Wednesday. Last year the same group of boys made a 105-mile hike over the Appalachian Trail in Virginia.

Although the boys won't be roughing it or braving the elements like the pair in the Huck Finn adventure, one said, "we did get the idea from a television show."

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — President Johnson was reported hesitating today over the possible choice of Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey as his running mate because of Southern opposition.

The Democratic National Convention, heading into its second formal session with the issue of seating a Mississippi delegation unsolved, still had no word from its White House headquarters about the President's preference for a vice presidential nominee.

Minnesota's Humphrey, who was everywhere doing everything he could to prevent any incident that would mar the unity that Johnson wanted achieved, was the consensus choice by leading Democrats for the place. But individually and collectively they conceded they don't have an inkling of Johnson's thinking.

Some dissent to the choice of Humphrey had been communicated to Johnson, lending credence to reports that he still had not made up his mind despite the relatively late hour.

Gov. Carl Sanders of Georgia, on whom Johnson has been leaning heavily in his efforts to salvage part of the South in the November election, said in an interview he had told Johnson at a White House conference Saturday he thought Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy might be a better choice from the South's standpoint.

"Understand me," Sanders said, "I raised no objections to Sen. Humphrey. But I said that I believed McCarthy was not as well known and his views were not as well known in the South and that he might be a better candidate."

McCarthy, a Roman Catholic, has been regarded as one of the top contenders for second place on the ticket. He and Humphrey have paralleling strong views in favor of civil rights, but Humphrey's have been well publicized and McCarthy's have not.

Every maneuver at this convention has pointed toward a

Johnson effort to placate dissident forces and emerge with his first presidential nomination with a relatively united party behind him.

Tonight, the convention is expected to give shouting approval of what in its essentials is a middle-of-the road platform promising sturdy accomplishments toward peace and prosperity but detouring controversial issues such as civil rights.

The Mississippi fight between a white delegation chosen with the understanding it would oppose the national ticket and the Negro - dominated Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party remained to be settled, possibly by a floor vote.

But the flurry over the appearance on the floor at Monday night's session of members of the Alabama delegation who refused to sign a loyalty pledge was not regarded as likely to burgeon into any federal case.

The feeling among convention officials — and this applied to both the Alabama and Mississiippi contests — was that there would not be any roll calls so what did it matter who was designated to cast votes that wouldn't be registered?

The civil rights plank, as approved by the platform committee, pledged "fair, effective enforcement" of the 1964 Civil Rights Act without promising to sponsor any new legislation of this type. But the Democrats said "we cannot and will not tolerate lawlessness."

The Democrats had promised in their platform "full implementation and faithful execution" of the law. They also agreed to back "improvements of civil rights statutes adequate to the changing needs of our times."

The Democrats whipped out a plank condemning extremism "including the extremist tactics of such organizations as the Communist party, the Ku Klux Klan and the John Birch Society."

Senate Bid Announced By Kennedy

Nomination From New York Already Considered Won

NEW YORK (AP)—Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy declared his candidacy today for the Democratic nomination to the U.S. Senate from New York, a nomination considered already in his pocket.

Kennedy formally began his first campaign for elective office at the side of Mayor Robert F. Wagner, the state's No. 1 Democrat.

The attorney general issued his long-expected announcement from Gracie Mansion, Wagner's official residence, and the mayor returned to the city from the Democratic National Convention at Atlantic City for the occasion.

Kennedy met head-on the issue of his residence:

"I shall devote all my effort and whatever talents I possess to the State of New York. This I pledge."

If New York Democrats nominate him next Tuesday, Kennedy said, "I shall resign from the Cabinet to campaign for election."

Kennedy seeks the seat occupied by Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, a Republican who has announced for re-election. Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce has said she might run as a Conservative party candidate for the same office.

The attorney general's wife, Ethel, was with him as he announced.

"All that President Kennedy stood for and all that President Johnson is trying to accomplish, all the progress that has been made, is threatened by a new and dangerous Republican assault," the attorney general said.

"No one associated with President Kennedy and with President Johnson — no one committed to participating in public life — can sit on the sidelines with so much at stake."

Kennedy now lives in Virginia and maintains a voting residence in his native state of Massachusetts. He has negotiated for a home on Long Island to become a New York resident.

Makarios Takes Off For Talks In Athens

Makarios told newsmen the Greeks had asked him to come to Athens.

"I don't know," he said, "what developments have transpired in connection with the Cyprus question which the Greek government consider as making my presence in Athens necessary."

His trip coincided with reports of growing disagreement between the Greek government and the Greek Cypriot government headed by Makarios.

Dictatorial Powers End

Khanh Gives Up Viet Presidency

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh gave up the title of president and his dictatorial powers today under the angry demands of students and Buddhists for an end to military rule. He was expected to stay on, however, as the actual chief of the U.S.-backed government.

The 37-year-old strong man may resume the premiership he dropped after the revolutionary military council elected him to the presidency 10 days ago. Or he might have himself re-elected president of a revamped regime. He retains command of South Viet Nam's armed forces.

Jubilant student leaders told The Associated Press that Khanh had agreed to hold a new election for chief of state and that the military council would then be dissolved.

Student leader Ton Thah Tue said he had been in telephone contact with Khanh at the presidential office building, and Khanh said he was willing to:

—Revoke the charter he promulgated Aug. 16 that gave him sweeping powers.

—Have the military council hold a new election for the chief of state — conceivably re-electing Khanh.

—Dissolve the council after the election, and set up some new form of government.

An aide in Khanh's office said that this version was essentially correct. It does not mean, the aide said, that Khanh has resigned his power as chief of Viet Nam.

The deputy premier for economy, Nguyen Xuan Oanh, told The Associated Press that the new move means Khanh no longer is either president or premier. The military revolutionary council will be called into an urgent session tonight, he said, to elect a new chief.

Khanh probably will be re-named premier, Oanh said. The junta then will dissolve itself, and a new junta, comprising civilians as well as military men, will be organized.

As the news came from the presidential office building, a cheer rose from a mass of demonstrators outside. They embraced each other and waved their banners wildly.

The government conceded nearly every demand posed by the political groups, students, Buddhists and military factions opposing Khanh.

The government pledged it would create mobile field courts

Way Sought For Seating Delegation

Mississippi Group Still Problem For Credentials Unit

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Credentials committee members resume their search today for some way of seating a Mississippi delegation for the second session of the Democratic National Convention.

The first night of the convention ended without a member of the mostly Negro Mississippi Freedom Democratic party or the regular Democrats, an all-white group, taking delegate seats. Both groups were barred because the credentials committee had failed to resolve its most difficult problem.

The committee did give both groups guest tickets. Some of the Mississippi people used these to get into the hall.

Every delegate from Alabama, those who took a loyalty oath and those who refused, took their seats. They kept them after repeated polite orders from convention officials that those who had not signed a loyalty pledge must "step aside."

"Step aside" meant getting out of the seats. The unpledged delegates — about 32 — said they would leave the hall if ordered to do so, but they would not give up their seats.

They were not ordered to leave.

No one with authority could say what would happen tonight when the Alabama delegates try to take their seats for a second session. No one seemed to know how the credentials committee would resolve the Mississippi dispute.

The Mississippi regulars feel the Freedom Democrats are a rump group that has no legal status.

Negroes claim the regulars exclude Negroes from their party and would not support the Democratic ticket.

The sole survivor was an 8-year-old girl who lay in a hospital unaware her parents, two sisters and a brother died in the collision.

Airline Hit By Walkout As Talks Fail

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pan American Airways was hit early today by an AFL-CIO Transport Workers Union strike after a breakdown in negotiations aimed at averting a walkout of some 12,000 employees. A federal mediator said negotiations had reached an "insurmountable impasse."

Union members began walking off the job within an hour after negotiations between union and management leaders broke off. Picket lines were set up at Pan American bases on both coasts.

The company said in advance of the walkout that a strike probably would ground all its flights. Its planes carry about 17,000 persons daily.

The union is seeking a 15 per cent pay raise, improved vacations, a shorter work week and other fringe benefits for the maintenance, ground service employees and flight service personnel it represents.

About 1,100 to 1,200 employees walked off their jobs at 2:15 a.m. at New York's John F. Kennedy International Airport, the union said.

About the same time, the union called 2,500 of its members off their jobs on the Pacific Coast and Hawaii. About 150

Clutter Counted Out

Graham Named Nominee In Hancock Vote Dispute

The split decision victory of William C. Graham of Chester in his May 12 primary battle for nomination as Hancock County commissioner was confirmed Monday after weeks of doubt.

Commissioners James Finley and Jack Evans upheld the 25-vote victory of the Democratic candidate over Alvin B. Clutter of Chester in ruling that primary ballots cast in Precinct 39 in Weirton are valid.

Rejection of the Precinct 39 ballots would have given Clutter the Grant District commissioner's nomination by 48 votes, and paired him against Republican J. Albert Hall in the November general election.

But Graham was officially certified the winner of the nomination in the ruling by Commissioners Finley and Evans, who acted on an opinion furnished by Atty. Donald Donnell, assistant county prosecutor.

Atty. Edward A. Zagula, counsel for Clutter, charged earlier that the Precinct 39 ballots were improperly sealed in a manila bag after the primary and that the bag lacked signatures of the poll workers across the seal.

Zagula asked that the Precinct 39 ballots be declared invalid. He declared there was a chance fraud may have been committed, but was quick to point out he was not saying it had, or was condemning the Precinct 39 poll workers.

The points he charged as improper are spelled out in the state code, Atty. Zagula said. Atty. Donnell in his opinion presented at a half - hour hearing Monday in the Courthouse

Hurricane Rakes Cuba And Jamaica

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP) — Gale force winds raked Cuba's Oriente Province and northern Jamaica today as Hurricane Cleo churned through the strait separating the two islands.

Seas raged and heavy surf battered shipping and coastal installations along Jamaica's north coast and Cuba's southeastern coast.

Winds were building to hurricane force from Santiago, Cuba, westward along the Sierra Maestra Mountains, where Fidel Castro began his drive to power.

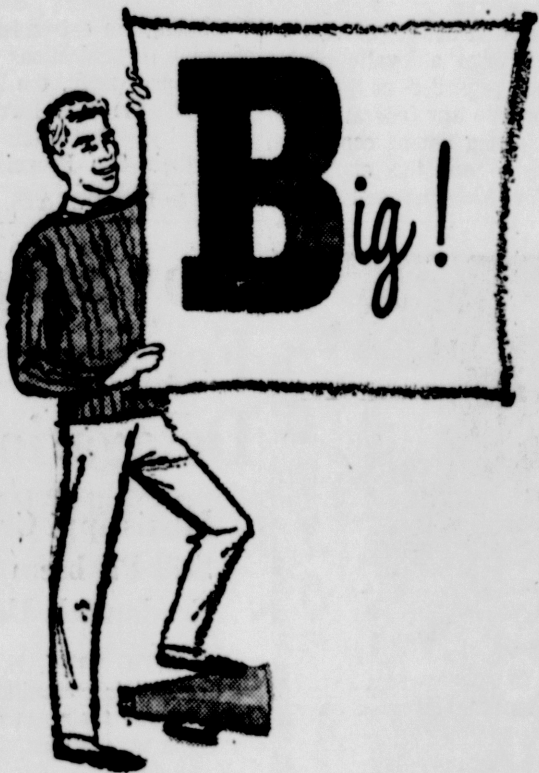

The Jamaican Weather Office said reconnaissance planes reported the hurricane veered northward during the night and appeared headed more directly toward Cuba. Extent of the northward turn would not be known until additional observations were made by hurricane hunter aircraft.

Forecasters said Cleo appeared headed toward Oriente Province, which suffered a severe blow last October from Hurricane Flora.

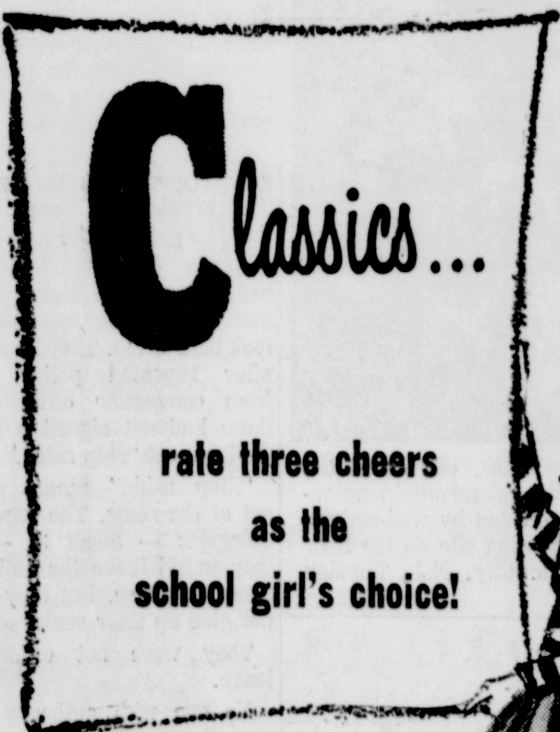

Residents were evacuating the southern coast of Cuba's Oriente Province, Havana radio said, and the government was preparing to evacuate parts of

Meat Prices Going Up In Some Cities

CORNING, Iowa (AP) — Housewives were paying higher prices for meat in some cities today as the National Farmers Organization continued to withhold cattle from markets in 23 states.

Meat on the hoof was bringing the highest prices in more than a year for those who did sell.

However, receipts were down at major markets as the holding action entered its fifth day. Midwest packing plants were laying off employees.

NFO President Oren Lee Staley at the organization's national headquarters here said retail price increases at this stage would be unjustified.

He said it appeared that "retail outlets will take unfair advantage of the situation and raise prices toward the end of the week."

Sporadic incidents of violence occurred as truckers tried to deliver meat animals despite the holding action.

At Duluth, Minn., retailers said fresh beef and pork cuts were up as much as 10 cents a pound.

In Boston, two grocery chains — First National Stores and Stop and Shop — said meat prices are likely to go up later this week.

NFO members massed at many marketing places Monday to try to talk truckers out of delivering animals.

The announced NFO policy is to hold out for its price goals of $22.75 a hundredweight for No. 1 and No. 2 hogs, $32.45 for choice beef cattle and $29.45 a hundredweight for sheep. It seeks contracts guaranteeing these prices, the same goal as in 1962 when it conducted a 33-day holding action.

Prices for hogs reached $20 at Chicago and Indianapolis and $19.25 at Omaha Monday. Prime steers brought $28.50 at Chicago, $27.50 at Omaha and $27 at Indianapolis.

Democrats

vention, GOP delegates had staged one of their bitterest battles over the extremism issue and had wound up by not mentioning it in their platform.

Sen. John O. Pastore, the Rhode Islanders of Italian extraction who was chosen personally by Johnson for the keynoter task, shouted in the keynote address that in the November election the people will say: "We need you, President Johnson." Pastore told a frequently applauding audience that filled most of the oversized hall that Democrats must accept the challenge to maintain the "showpiece of partnership, progress and leadership" he said had been developed in the Kennedy-Johnson years in the White House.

Teeling off on Republican nominee Barry Goldwater, Pastore said that "the sanity of America is the security of the world."

"What does the Republican candidate choose to have anything mean at any given moment?" he demanded. "The world cannot wait until Saturday to learn what he meant on Monday. The man in the White House has to be understood the first time. For him there is no second choice."

Strike

pickets marched in Miami, the union said.

Pan America operates no domestic flights but flies to points throughout the world from New York, Miami, Chicago, Washington, Seattle, Wash., Portland, Ore., San Francisco, Los Angeles and Houston, Tex.

The union said the 2,700 employees it represents at Cape Kennedy, Fla., would take no part in the strike. The union has a no-strike agreement with the federal government affecting missile site workers. The Cape Kennedy union members work on launching pads, fueling missiles and on maintenance.

Also unaffected, the union said, will be charter flights for the Military Air Transport Service.

The negotiations broke down after a new offer by Pan American which the union said "wasn't very good."

In addition to the wage increase, the union's demands include reduction of the work week from 40 to 37½ hours, three weeks vacation after five years service instead of the present 10 years service and improved insurance and pension benefits.

Average wages are now $3.31 an hour for mechanics, $2.55 for ground service personnel, $2.83 for port stewards who handle food and other provisioning of planes and $475 monthly for flight stewards, stewardesses and pursers.

to deliver "instant justice" to corrupt officials and elements of the defunct Can Lao party of the late President Ngo Dinh Diem. "By some means or another," Deputy Premier Oahn told The Associated Press, "a ruling council with the same powers as the present junta but made up of civilians will be created. The civilians will be picked from a broad spectrum of political parties and groups so as to be completely representative."

The government also abrogated the national constitution promulgated by Khanh nine days ago, which gave him sweeping powers.

The situation in Saigon was confused but the danger of immediate rioting in the capital apparently passed with the government statement.

Today's demonstration was the biggest against the government since the founding of the Vietnamese state in 1954.

The aggressive, goateed career soldier proclaimed himself premier a few weeks after he seized power in a bloodless coup last Jan. 30. He replaced Gen. Minh, the popular Buddhist who had led the overthrow of the hated Diem regime three months earlier.

When the Gulf of Tonkin crisis broke early this month, Khanh decreed a state of national emergency. On Aug. 16 his military junta promulgated a constitution giving Khanh dictatorial powers in a national emergency and elevating him to president.

Within days, students and Buddhists took their protests against Khanh into the streets. The Buddhists demanded religious freedom, the students demanded Khanh's ouster and restoration of civilian rule.

A few hours earlier Khanh had offered to revise the new constitution, which gave him dictatorial powers, in an effort to halt the wave of student rioting in key cities.

Mrs. W. G. Jones of Route 45, Wellsville, has reported to the sheriff's office that $4 in coins were taken from her home the past two weeks while she was away on vacation. A basement door was forced for entry.

Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan said deputies are also investigating the theft of equipment from R. K. A hasp was broken on a door for the entry during the weekend and the loot included a cutting torch, regulator and tips.

Ohio Insurance Chief Seeks To Liquidate Firm

CLEVELAND (AP)—Ohio Insurance Supt. William R. Morris has asked authorization from Franklin County Common Pleas Court in Columbus to liquidate the Investment Life Insurance Co. of America.

In a report filed Monday with the court, which had appointed him conservator of the foundering insurance firm, Morris also recommended that the American Fund, the Hungarian Fraternal Insurance Society managed by Investment Life, be temporarily assigned to another insurance company. He also recommended that Investment Life's outstanding policies be reinsured and that its home office in Cleveland be closed.

Investment Life, which reportedly was losing $60,000 a month when Morris took over in April, still is losing $25,000 a month, the report said.

Seal-Coat Treatment

Applied In North Side

Street department crews have started seal-coating North Side streets which were blacktopped in the 1962 low-cost surfacing program. Safety-Service Director Robert E. Vodrey said today.

They turned to the North Side after completing work on similar streets in the East End Monday. The work began a week ago today but was halted frequently by rain.

Meanwhile, painting of traffic warning signs in school zones is about 90 per cent complete, the director said. "School" is painted on the pavements in huge letters in each school zone in addition to spots where children cross in large numbers en route to or from the school.

When Men Bite Dogs

The country is squared away for the second half of the two-party system's function in a presidential campaign—to nominate the second pair of contestants.

Television and radio will bring the Democratic convention to the country's hearthside this week. Republicans will watch the goings-on at Atlantic City as closely as Democrats watched the GOP convention in San Francisco.

Before the Democrats are through, there may even be another demonstration of fist-shaking at TV commentators and the press. Publicity can be as galling to those who live by it as to those who avoid it.

The fur on the political back is easily ruffled. Ruffling it has been made into an art by a special kind of political gadfly in the communications business.

THE ART consists of the question the politician does not want to answer, asked in a way that makes it impossible for him to duck it. It is the fact this type of question is asked frequently and aggressively that causes friction between public figures and people who report and comment on their words and deeds.

The public figures would prefer to screen all questions in advance and answer only those they can handle satisfactorily.

They would prefer to control all comment about themselves and screen out everything that might mar their public image as 10-foot-high saviors of civilization.

They would, prefer to have all communications media kept under an authoritative thumb, subject to official squelching. And because it cannot be this way in the United States, there is a running battle between politicians and the press. The battle now involves television and radio as well, but not always. The cold fact is that television and radio must obtain licenses from the government.

One more thing. It is the aphorism about men and biting dogs. When the dogs bite the men, it is not news. But if the men bite the dogs, that's news.

THE PEOPLE reporting what goes on in Atlantic City will be looking for men in a mood to bite dogs. They will be seeking out controversy, seven egging on potential belligerents.

Of belligerents there never has been a shortage in the Democratic party, thanks to the historic stand-off between the adaptable North and the irreconcilable South.

Bear this in mind the next few days. Remember at all times that a national convention is part and parcel of the two-party system, which in turn is part and parcel of the way Americans govern themselves—by stress and strife, thus guaranteeing that no one ever can get a stranglehold on the electorate.

All Is Fair

While things are humming at the grounds at Lisbon, two other district communities are busy with fairs of their own.

The annual Hookstown fair will get under way on Wednesday and the Community Free Fair at New Cumberland on Thursday.

These fairs have provided many enjoyable moments in the past and are ready to do the same this year. Both are in the hands of capable directors and will combine the professional touch and the "homey" atmosphere which make for excellent attractions.

With worthwhile programs scheduled for Lisbon, New Cumberland and Hookstown, fairgoers can have a real field day. All are in close range by automobile and it should be no problem for those who like such expositions to take in all three.

Same Rule For Everybody

There is more to the argument over the Soviet Union's refusal to pay what it owes the United Nations than is being included in most reports on the controversy.

The Soviet Union isn't the only nation owing money. France and Belgium have refused to pay anything for U.N. operations in the Congo, because both are former colonial powers in Africa. South Africa is in arrears because it resents attacks on its racial discrimination by other African nations.

Sixteen U.N. members are in arrears on their payments. Any rule, any decision about penalizing one must apply to all. This is Moscow's strongest defense against criticism of its failure to pay. It is not alone.

Its next strongest argument is the claim that only the U.N. Security Council has the right to make decisions about maintaining and restoring peace with U.N. forces. But one negative vote in the Security Council can veto any peacekeeping action, which cripples it.

The United States was responsible for including this veto power in the U.N. Charter, though this is never pointed out when Russia is being accused of obstructionism. To get around the veto power, the U.N. General Assembly in 1950 resolved that whenever exercise of the veto prevented the Security Council from taking action the General Assembly could be called into session to authorize collective security measures by majority vote.

This is where the matter stands now. Pending settlement of a knotty problem of procedure, the United Nations is faced with the prospect of ruin. Only one possibility of collecting any part of what is due from the nations owing money exists—a compromise on the issue of U.N. authority to send troops to trouble spots.

Obviously, a compromise would be as hard for the United States to accept as for the Soviet Union—probably a little harder.

Huck And Tom

Though the present-day accommodations are more luxurious, the spirits of Tom Sawyer and Huck Finn must have been hovering over the scene Monday as a group of adventuresome Boy Scouts stopped off here Monday, en route downriver to Cincinnati.

As Tom and Huck used to do on the Mississippi, they were making the trip by "homemade" raft—with modern-day trimmings.

The youths from Elizabeth, Pa., are a welcome throwback to the glorious river days so ably documented in the colorful, masterful language of Mark Twain.

We wish the boys well as they wend their way downstream. They have brought a refreshing chapter from the past into the hectic days of the present.

By Truman Twill

fancy loop-the-loop intersections that turn public roads into fun-house mazes and detours as likely to take a driver to the back entrance of a slaughterhouse as back to the road he was forced to abandon.

I AM OUT OF patience with a system that delivers motorists to the outskirts of cities, then turns them over to middle-heads who resent their presence and try to trap them alive in a tangle of one-way streets.

I have no use for city street systems laid out with missing blocks and highways that do peculiar things with no advance warning.

In plain words, you goons, it isn't just my fault I get lost. It's people like you who never learned how to keep me from getting lost, starting with overhead signs on main roads—the kind that don't get hidden by trucks and whose existence doesn't have to be guessed at by drivers who are not homing pigeons and can only look in only one direction at a time.

Odd Facts

Summer suits now account for more than 25 per cent of the entire output of men's suits in the United States. In 1907, patents were approved for a relatively light, porous suiting material which opened a vast new territory in men's fashions.

The song, "Hail To The Chief," which is played at public affairs in the United States upon the entrance of the President, has its origin in an old Scottish boat-lifting song.

The odds each year are about one in four that each of us will suffer some sort of injury serious enough to require medical attention.

To produce food in the United States, only seven out of 100 of our workers are needed, compared with more than 40 out of 100 in Russia.

Congressional Roulette

Embassy Document Backs Reuther

By Victor Riesel

A document distributed recently by the American Embassy in London indicates that the U. S. government is siding with Walter Reuther's auto workers, in the current pre-strike conflict between the big union and the Big Three car manufacturers.

The document, bearing the official eagle insignia of the American Embassy bluntly backs up most of Mr. Reuther's arguments against U.S. industry in general and General Motors in particular.

American corporations are "loaded with cash," the official publication states.

American industry has not paid sufficiently high wages, asserts the large booklet distributed to British editors, labor leaders, industrialists, scholars and the major English universities.

WITH NO SUBTLETY of diplomacy the embassy states that much of the cash has gone for executive bonuses and unusually high dividend payments.

Unless the U.S. Embassy in Britain has declared its independence from America, the long article apparently presages the position which will be taken by the economic advisors to the White House. This, at least, is the impression of a group of British economists, labor leaders and businessmen with whom I conferred in the gracious lounge of the Hotel Westbury last week in London.

They were as startled as I was by what appeared to be a slashing attack on U.S. business by a U.S. embassy in a foreign country.

The analysis, by an anonymous writer in a publication entitled "Labour News From the U.S.," makes it seem that American business is gorging itself on swollen profits, denying workers their just wages and paying out huge dividends even in a recession year.

Following this article is a second piece which talks of "the economic stagnation which has plagued America during the past decade" and says that "many Americans seem so complacent." There also is the blunt charge that U. S. economic health is failing and must be restored.

The second article is signed and, therefore, the policy position can be attributed to the author.

THE FIRST article, however, is anonymous and is being interpreted as U.S. government policy regardless of what the embassy intended when it put the document into circulation a few months ago.

Polite British observers, devoted to understatement, nonetheless expressed amazement at the outspoken nature of the embassy attitude towards its own businessmen back home.

What surprised them were sections such as this one appearing early in the analysis of "Collective Bargaining, The Outlook for 1964."

"The increase in profits and depreciation allowances has meant a steady climb in the cashflow to corporations. During the past three years (the life of the auto industry's current labor contract—VR) the retained corporate cashflow—after payment of taxes and dividends—has been greater than corporate investment in new plant and equipment. As a result, corporations are loaded with cash."

"Substantial wage increases also are possible because of the continuing high rate of productivity advance."

AFTER MAKING this point about the alleged cash reserves of American business, the embassy publication then states that productivity has far surpassed the 3.2 per cent a year increase which was set as the wage increase guideline for the last few years.

"In some industries," continues the embassy analysis, "the rate of productivity advance has been about 5 or 6 per cent or more a year in recent years."

"In most cases, the fruits of these large increases in productivity have not been shared adequately with either workers or consumers."

This has been the basic Reuther argument in his current negotiations.

But here are other parallels found in the statement by the embassy. The analysis is studied with such phrase as: "Negotiations will take place against a backdrop of record business profits, peak dividend payments to stockholders, extra bonuses to management and rapid rising productivity... Money is available for wage increases in record corporate profits..."

Nor is the embassy writer less blunt when it comes to a discussion of the controversial overtime issue.

"Double and triple-time payments are being recognized as essential penalty payments for overtime work..."

Small wonder the British were startled.

Compromise Document

By James Marlow

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. The Democrats have laid down, in a speech and a platform, the main lines they will pursue in the 1964 campaign.

But the platform showed the controlling hand of President Johnson, even though he was still in Washington, as much by what it left unsaid as by what it pinpointed.

It's a compromise document plainly intended to prevent party-shattering splits. Particularly it tries to avoid alienating Negroes or Southerners, city-dwellers or farmers.

Yet, the very conscious, and apparently successful search for harmony here is going to make the Democrats' get-together even duller than last month's Republican convention, where the forces of Sen. Barry Goldwater completely dominated the show.

Here are those main lines voters can expect the Democrats to follow:

1. Americans never had it so good, and were never militarily so strong, as under the Kennedy-Johnson administrations. The Democrats claim the longest and strongest peacetime prosperity in our history.

2. Extremism will be a persistent Democratic target.

The platform condemned it, specifically naming the Communist party, the Ku Klux Klan and the John Birch Society. Pastore said the Republicans have been taken over by reactionaries and extremists.

The Republican platform avoided repudiating extremism and, while Goldwater later said he did not want the support of the Ku Klux Klan, he did not do the same about the Birchites.

3. The platform promised new programs—such as expanded aid to education and broader health facilities, to name a couple—which would mean even broader participation of the federal government in American life.

The Republican platform promised some new programs, too, but because of its heavy emphasis on less government help and participation it is basically different from the Democratic document.

It was on some very sore subjects that the Democratic platform was most cautious. For instance, civil rights.

It promised "fair, effective enforcement" of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. This is the least it could do without alienating Negroes and Northern liberals. Because it was a minimum, it would not infuriate the South.

The best evidence that this was the language of political compromise is that Northern and Southern members of the Platform Committee acclaimed their work as a "unity" platform and a winner in November.

The Convention System

By David Lawrence

People Must Take What Bosses Decide

ATLANTIC CITY — To paraphrase a widely publicized paradox uttered just a few weeks ago at the Republican National Convention, the political behavior of this conclave of the Democrats well might be epitomized as follows:

"Extremism in defense of hypocrisy is David Lawrence no vice. Moderation in pursuit of ambition is no virtue."

FOR ITS more like a carnival here than a national assembly designed to nominate a candidate for election to the presidency of the most powerful nation in the world.

The atmosphere rather is that of a carefree reunion of politicians from all parts of the country. They know ahead of time what they are to do and just how to do it. They don't even have to worry about whom to select as vice president, as this will be told them by the boss—Lyndon Johnson—in advance of the balloting.

What he dictates, of course, will be ratified in a routine procedure—a vote by acclamation after a single roll call.

BUT THE STORY here isn't who will be nominated for the presidency and vice presidency on the Democratic ticket. It's the story that was apparent also at the Republican National Convention in San Francisco.

It concerns the absolute indifference manifested toward the pious principle proclaimed by the Supreme Court of the United States in a recent decision calling for "one person, one vote."

For there is no such thing as a vote by the citizen in most of the states of the Union in the process of selecting presidential nominees.

The convention system compels the country to choose in the November election between two candidates selected by groups of party bosses and politicians who rule the roost without benefit of a referendum or any other representative method of picking delegates to reflect voter desires or opinion.

THE CONVENTION here this week is no exception to the rule. It is a big publicity stunt, reinforced now by nationwide television and by movies and singers on one day's program and then on another day solemn memorial services and eulogies.

There is nothing, moreover, in a party convention that, by the remotest stretch of the imagination, could be compared to the operations of a national legislative body composed of representative individuals versed in national and international affairs.

Some members of Congress do participate in the writing of the party platforms, but the delegates from all over the country take what is handed to them by the party bosses and automatically approve it.

IF SOMETIMES there is a dissent and a minority report is filed, this usually is claimed to be "on principle," but as a rule it actually is a transparent mechanism of politics designed by a rival faction to try to embarrass a would-be candidate, as happened at the San Francisco convention.

There are, of course, plenty of cynics here among the newsmen. They know from past observation that what is professed in a party platform or in campaign speeches is both ambiguous and partisanly misleading.

When two major party conventions deal so arbitrarily with either national or international questions, it can be truly dangerous to the welfare of the people.

LET ONE example be cited:

Just 48 years ago the slogan of the Democrats in the 1916 presidential campaign was "peace and prosperity." It was a phrase belabored forth constantly at the Democratic National Convention, which was held at St. Louis.

The keynote speaker was the Democratic governor of New York, Martin H. Glynn. He described successive crises in America's international relations of those days, and praised President Wilson's part in the development of foreign policy.

Recalling each international dispute, he would cry out: "And what did he do? He settled the matter by negotiation."

There then would be a momentary pause, and the whole audience of delegates in every instance would sing out:

"And he kept us out of war!"

THIS DRAMATIC STUNT, repeated several times, was greeted with deafening applause and cheers. But exactly one month after the inauguration of Mr. Wilson for a second term, the same President was asking Congress to recognize a state of war, and the United States thus entered World War I.

Was the enemy deceived into thinking the American politicians would have enough influence to prevent resistance to the Kaiser's aggression, or that American military participation would come too late to save Europe?

In 1940, the Democratic presidential nominee, President Franklin D. Roosevelt, campaigned successfully for a third term and promised the people they would be kept out of war.

It is to be hoped that Khrushchev will not misread the campaign speeches of 1964 as did the autocratic governments which, respectively, forced America's entry into World War I and World War II.

Down Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO — The 11th annual Hickman reunion was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Hickman of Calcutta.

Former Mayor Wallace L. Fogo was elected chairman of the Wellsville Republican central committee and C. N. Brannan was re-elected chairman of the Wellsville Democratic committee.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Members of American Legion Post 4 elected Stanley A. Waite of Beechwood as their new commander.

Septimus Cook was appointed sanitary inspector of the Board of Health.

About 100 attended the ninth annual reunion of the Sayre family at the home of S. J. Sayre of Lawrenceville.

TEN YEARS AGO — William Devon of Ohio Ave. was promoted to corporal at Ft. Knox, Ky., where he served with the 19th Field Artillery Group.

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

In regards to the new school bond issue, I would like to express an opinion.

After reading how Lincoln and so many other great Americans got their education, perhaps we are overdoing this huge building program. It's my humble opinion that we don't need these huge expensive buildings to get a good education any more than we need a great expensive cathedral to practice Christianity.

But my concern is not so much about the cost to the taxpayers who want this program and can afford it, but how about the old people on pensions and social security who own their own homes and scrimp and save to pay their taxes, insurance and keep them in repairs so they're fit to live in?

They have raised their families and paid for their education and I don't suppose they feel like paying more taxes out of their small incomes to educate somebody else's kids.

You hear so much about Medicare, low-cost housing and other things for our senior citizens, but I haven't seen any of it around here. I guess they're going to give the old people a 5 per cent increase in their social security checks. But after they take out the new bond issue some of them won't have enough left to buy a box of aspirin tablets for their headaches. If they want to do something for our senior citizens, why not exempt the people on social security from paying any higher taxes.

Perhaps then their many relatives and friends would feel more like voting for the bond issue.

I certainly am not going to vote for it and cause these poor people any more hardships than they have now.

Democrats Expected To Approve It Tonight

Middle-Of-The-Road Platform Due

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — A middle-road platform that largely reflects President Johnson's desire not to rock the boat goes before the Democratic National Convention tonight. Approval is expected, with no floor fight in prospect over any of the planks.

Members of the platform committee finished their work late Monday, turning out a document that for the most part affirms present administration policies and promises to improve and expand them rather than break new ground.

On the three issues that Republicans battled over at their convention last month — civil rights, extremism and control of nuclear weapons — the Democratic platform drafters drew clear-cut issues for the coming campaign.

The Republicans, adhering to the wishes of Sen. Barry Goldwater, their presidential candidate, were silent on "extremism" and control of nuclear arms. But not the Democrats.

"We condemn extremism, whether from the right or left, including the extreme tactics of such organizations as the Communist party, the Ku Klux Klan and the John Birch Society," the Democratic platform says.

As for nuclear weapons, it declares that control over their use must continue to rest solely in the hands of the President.

On the divisive civil rights issue, the Democrats wrote a plank that the Southerners on the platform committee said they could go along with and that one of them, Pierre Pelham of Alabama, called "something of a victory for the South."

It declares that "the Civil Rights Act of 1964 deserves and requires full observance by every American and fair, effective enforcement if there is any default."

The committee chairman, Oklahoma Rep. Carl Albert, said this means that if the comprehensive antidiscrimination measure is not complied with, it will be enforced.

The Republican platform avoided use of the word enforce but pledged "full implementation and faithful execution" of the new law, which Goldwater voted against on the ground that two of its key sections are unconstitutional.

However, the Republicans promised to support improvements in existing civil rights statutes to meet changing needs and any additional measures necessary to prevent unlawful denial of voting rights. The Democrats made no mention of new civil rights legislation.

The Democratic platform strongly condemns lawlessness "whether used to deny equal rights or obtain equal rights" and repudiates use of racial quotas in employment.

Also pleasing to Southerners on the platform committee was the rejection of a plank calling for enforcement of the 14th Amendment's provision for reducing a state's representation in the House in proportion to the number of its qualified citizens denied the right to vote.

12 Appointees Fill Faculty For Hancock

Twelve new teachers and an engineer for the Educational Television program were hired by the Hancock County Board of Education Monday night, virtually completing the 305-member staff of classroom teachers for the new school term opening Monday.

The board also awarded contracts for school bus and student insurance, milk and coal. Supt. Robert H. Hall said only one or two part-time language teachers for the junior high schools are needed for the new term. "Otherwise, we're in pretty good shape as far as teachers go," he said. The board has hired about 50 new teachers for the 1964-65 term in increasing the staff by 22.

Hired were Hugh Woods, history and social studies, and Miss Sophia Divich, girls physical education, Weir High School; Gervase O'Leary, English, New Cumberland Junior High; James Clark, English, Chester Junior High; Emmanuel Alatis, physical education, and Miss Eleanor Golden, social studies, Weir Junior High.

Nicholas Radeka, Newell Jefferson; Mrs. Barbara Dawson, mathematics, Wells Junior High; Miss Lynn Brand, English, Chester Junior High; Mrs. Judith Pillo, Chester primary; Miss Rose Marie Puskarich, Weirton Liberty, and Miss Irie J. Pratt, Weirton Dunbar.

Charles Arnott of Newell was hired as engineer for the ETV program at a salary of $5,000 for 11 months work.

Two teachers submitted resignations, Mrs. Hester Thomas of Weirton Cove and John Banco of Chester Junior High.

Mrs. William Zierold was hired as an instructional aide for Weirton Liberty, and Mrs. Ida Calvarese as secretary for Weir Junior High.

The board awarded a contract to John A. Spatafore of Weirton for insurance on a fleet of 30 school buses and 20 other vehicles on his bid of $2,100 a year.

The bid of Crago Coal Co. of New Cumberland to furnish coal for $7.45 a ton was accepted, along with the bid of E. G. Jackson Agency of Chester for student school accident insurance for $2.50 per child.

The board also accepted the bid of Weir Cove Dairy of Weirton for milk for the central kitchens on its bid of 6 cents per half-pint.

Supt. Hall announced a new rating established by the West Virginia Rating Bureau on new school buildings. The rate is lower on the new buildings than the older ones for fire insurance purposes, and the rate for all buildings will be 30 per cent cheaper starting July 1. The new buildings were insured at the rate of the old ones, and a refund is expected under the new rate system.

Use of Chester Junior High School Nov. 9 and two other dates was awarded the Chester Arts Club for operettas.

Oak Glen's band was given permission to participate in a Weirton Festival of Bands program Sept. 12.

Demolition Of Home Starts At Postal Site

LISBON — Work began this morning to remove the former Fisher Block home, 218-220 W. Lincoln Way, where the new village Post Office will be erected.

Dean Rose, excavating contractor, began removing the walls. The doorway, reportedly one of the most beautiful in Ohio, will be donated by Rose to the Lisbon Historical Society.

Lisbon Levy Ballot Asked

LISBON — Council at a special meeting Monday agreed by a vote of 5-1 to place a five-tenths mill levy on the Nov. 3 ballot for the operations of the Sadie VanFossen Swimming Pool and parks.

Final payment of bonds for construction of the pool will be $4,200 and it will be made in November 1965. This amount represents about seven-tenths mills, so if the voters pass the levy, they actually will be paying less taxes, as the five-tenths will bring in an estimated $3,300 for the next five years, councilmen said. Taxpayers have been paying an estimated $4,500 for the past 10 years to pay off the $37,500 bond issue for the pool.

A special committee composed of Mayor Dean Stockman, Clerk-Treasurer Ray Hemphstead and pool commission chairman, Fred Steele, Councilman Cecil Rauch, Atty. Charles Pike and Adam Rudabaugh and council members, Mrs. Blanch Neill, Clyde Pike and Joseph Dornon, decided to place the levy on the ballot after figures showed that Council has had to spend over $10,798 from the general fund for pool operations since 1961. The yearly expenditure included:

1961 — $2,912.28; 1962 — $1,912.29; 1963 — $3,811.60, and so far this year, $2,163.90.

The levy is proposed for the tax years 1965 through 1969, but the village would receive revenue only for 1966 through 1970. Steel advised Council that major repairs will be necessary at the pool before another season.

Bob Jones and Sam Snead finished second four times in the U.S. Open. Jones won the title four times. Snead never did win it.

Graham

said even though the ballots were not properly submitted as required by law, the tally sheets, or certificates of the election, were properly signed and submitted and represent the next best evidence.

Atty. Zagula concurred that the tally sheets are the next best evidence. Mrs. Mary Stewart, county clerk, said the tally sheets were presented properly in four separate envelopes, all sealed, and were not opened until the canvass of primary returns was started.

Atty. Frank A. Pietrantoni, who represented Graham, said the courts have upheld that election laws are directory in nature, not mandatory. He said there was no evidence of fraud in the case. If the tally sheets are properly signed and certified as a result of the election, "that is the result unless there is proof of fraud," he said.

Atty. Zagula has 10 days in which to appeal the ruling to a higher court.

In gaining the nomination, Graham will be seeking a fourth straight term as county commissioner against Hall in the November general election. He is an incumbent county commissioner, but disqualified himself from voting in the issue because his own primary ballots were involved.

Didn't Judge Girls

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. — The Miss America Pageant, which began in 1921, had its origin in the Floral Parade held in 1902. The Floral Parade was made up of rolling chairs decorated with flowers, with a girl in each chair. However, only the beauty of the decorated chairs, and not that of the girls, was judged.

City Teachers Group Backs School Bonds

The East Liverpool Teachers Association's Board of Directors pledged support of the $3.3 million bond issue for school construction at a meeting Monday night with Austen B. Moore of Lisbon St., president.

Endorsement of the bond issue to finance construction of a new high school and three elementary buildings was approved by five officers and three at-large members present.

Officers in addition to Moore who attended were Tony LaNeve, first vice president; William Wilson, second vice president; Eleanor Wood, recording secretary; Mrs. Lillie Belle Leonard, treasurer; and James Martin, Wilbur Wolfe and Mrs. Ruth Dawson, members at-large.

The board agreed to recommend to the general membership of between 230 and 240 teachers a seven-month plan of payroll deduction for payment of dues for professional organizations.

Moore was authorized to attend a leadership conference at Glenwood High School in Canton Wednesday night at 8.

The ELTA will co-sponsor with the Chamber of Commerce a welcome program for new teachers Sept. 8 preceding the opening day of the new school term.

The membership committee headed by Margaret Thompson has mailed letters of welcome to each new teacher.

Youth, 18, Dies But Knowing His Bills Were Paid

CARTERSVILLE, Ga. (AP) — Ray Chappell, the gallant teen-ager with leukemia who battled so hard to pay his medical bills, died knowing his debts were paid in full.

The 18-year-old boy died Monday in a hospital a few minutes before newsmen could present him with a bill marked "paid in full."

Chappell's family, however, told him of the news Saturday when his condition worsened.

The youth worked with a highway construction crew, but was able to earn only $60. News stories of his plight brought in $1,400 in money and pledges which his father, Ray Chappell, a cotton mill worker in Aragon, Ga., said would be used to pay medical expenses. What is left will be applied to the boy's funeral expenses.

Man, 46, Is Charged With Slaying Wife

CLEVELAND (AP) — Stanley E. Baughman, 46-year-old steelworker, has been charged with second-degree murder in the slaying of his 37-year-old wife, Elida.

Mrs. Baughman was shot through the heart Saturday night while in a west side apartment. Wounded were Glen Tyler, 38, brother-in-law of the dead woman, and James Mathes, 28, both hospitalized in fair condition. Baughman was angry because his estranged wife left him to care for their children, police said.

Wellsville Job Test Will Be Held Tonight

The Wellsville Civil Service Commission will give examinations to five applicants for the post of school custodian tonight at 7 at Council Chambers in City Hall.

Barry Would Ask NATO To Plug Into 'Hot Line'

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater said today the Democrats "are misled by strange and unrealistic notions of appeasement and disarmament."

The Republican presidential nominee also said that if he is elected, U.S. allies in Europe will be invited to plug into the Washington-Moscow hot line.

In a speech prepared for the Veterans of Foreign Wars Convention he said that the United States must find a way to provide the North Atlantic Treaty Organization "with its own stock of small, tactical nuclear battlefield weapons—what may truly be called conventional nuclear weapons."

The weapons he is telling them about, Goldwater said, are "no more powerful than the firepower you have faced on the battlefield. They simply come in a smaller package."

In New York City Monday, Goldwater met privately with business leaders.

"It's been a very good day," he said. "I'm well pleased with it."

An aide said the meetings were held to give the business community a chance to get acquainted with Goldwater and his views.

In his speech to the veterans here, the Arizona senator said President Johnson and the Democrats are undermining NATO unity.

"This administration must answer not just to the voters of this nation, but to history for its abject failures in foreign policy. And of these failures, none is more tragic than the lack of support for NATO," Goldwater said.

Too often, Goldwater said, "this administration has bypassed our NATO partners to deal directly and unilaterally with the Soviet Union."

"Our hot line to Moscow is an unfortunate symbol of this. It suggests secret conversations, deals, unilateral negotiations in matters that concern and should involve all our partners in freedom," Goldwater said.

"I pledge that as president, our NATO allies will be given the opportunity to hook into our hot line, either directly or by diplomatic process."

Goldwater's plan would make the hot line a party line linking all 15 NATO nations with the Soviet Union. The teletype writer link, designed to provide instant communications in time of crisis, was turned on last Aug. 30.

Goldwater said that America has in its people and its military might the strength to repel communism.

"But its leaders lack this strength," he said, "they are misled by strange and unrealistic notions of appeasement and disarmament. Their eyes are turned away from the real world and are fixed in a hypnotic stare upon a dream world."

Goldwater said that before his administration would negotiate with the Soviet Union, "particularly . . . at the so-called summit, I will propose that there always be a meeting at freedom's summit first."

"It is reckless to expose Europe to Communist forces equipped with these weapons and deny Europe an ample and immediately available force in kind," he said.

"It is rash to face communism's legions in Europe with anything less than a fully credible deterrent at this practical tactical level."

"It is irresponsible to gamble the strength of the world's finest hope for peace in order to score a domestic political point," Goldwater added.

The senator said he has "joined many NATO leaders in describing these weapons as conventional . . ."

He suggested anew that the supreme commander of NATO get "greater control over them. But he said he would listen to other proposals aimed at the same goal."

Under present law, only the President can order the use of nuclear weapons. The Democratic platform promises to keep it that way.

Goldwater said big, retaliatory nuclear weapons "should remain in America's arsenal, under American control as established by the Congress."

Husband Free On Bond In Gun Assault

An East End man is free on hearing Sept. 1 in Municipal Court on a charge of assault with intent to kill.

Frank DeBerry, 2220 Harvey Ave., appeared voluntarily with his counsel, Atty. George Aronson, on Monday before Judge Samuel M. Chertoff who set bond at $5,000 on the affidavit filed by the defendant's wife, Mrs. Gertrude DeBerry, who alleged her husband fired three shots at her in a fight at the home early Friday.

DeBerry posted a $10,000 property bond to gain his freedom. Court rules require property bonds twice the value of the cash bond.

He had been sought by police since last Friday on a warrant filed by his wife, who said he fired once at her with a .22-caliber automatic before she wrestled it away from him.

After firing twice more with a 16-gauge shotgun, it jammed and he struck her with the weapon before she fled the house, she charged. Her two young daughters were in bed during the shooting and police said there were holes in the wall of each bedroom from the shotgun blasts.

Ohio's electric companies take a leaf from nature!

INTERCONNECTION is vital to the life of the leaf . . . and vital to the flow of electricity in Ohio.

Ohio's eight electric companies are interconnected.

By sharing electricity, they work hand in hand to serve you better.

Interconnection provides savings by reducing the amount of standby facilities needed by your electric company. So it helps to keep the price of electricity low.

Interconnection increases the dependability of your electric service. Ohio's network of transmission lines is a part of the nation's largest power pool, started more than 30 years ago. This group now includes utilities serving 39 states east of the Rockies.

It's a significant example of what is being done by investor-owned companies acting in a neighborly manner.

Better service at low prices is the whole idea behind interconnection.

It's vital!

Soka Gakkai—Japan's controversial Value-Creation Society—is a militant sect of crusading Buddhists which is rapidly becoming an influence in both religion and government.

Organized in 1930 and suppressed during the war, Soka Gakkai combines spiritual evangelism with promises of material rewards. It claims more than 10 million members in Japan and converts at a rate of 100,000 per month.

Its religious doctrine is based on the philosophy of Nichiren, a 13th century monk who maintained that happiness is the pursuit of life's highest values—goodness, beauty and benefit.

Soka Gakkai's hierarchy has added another value—politics. Fifteen members of the society have been elected to the upper house of the Diet and nearly 2,000 more to state and local assemblies. It recently stirred government circles by its announced intention to run 30 candidates in the next election to the Diet's ruling lower house.

Soka Gakkai's supporters come from the discontented urban poor who have missed out on Japan's industrial boom. They are mainly under 30. The president, Daisaku Ikeda, is only 36.

The sect collects no dues. It selects 400,000 families a year to provide less than $3 each, and derives additional income from a publishing empire. It recently dedicated a $4.5 million recreation-worship center at the foot of Mount Fuji. It was paid for in less than a week by contributions.

Soka Gakkai's power and influence are growing. It already boasts several hundred members in the United States, 250 of whom attended the new temple's dedication. Its ambition is to convert Japan and then the world.

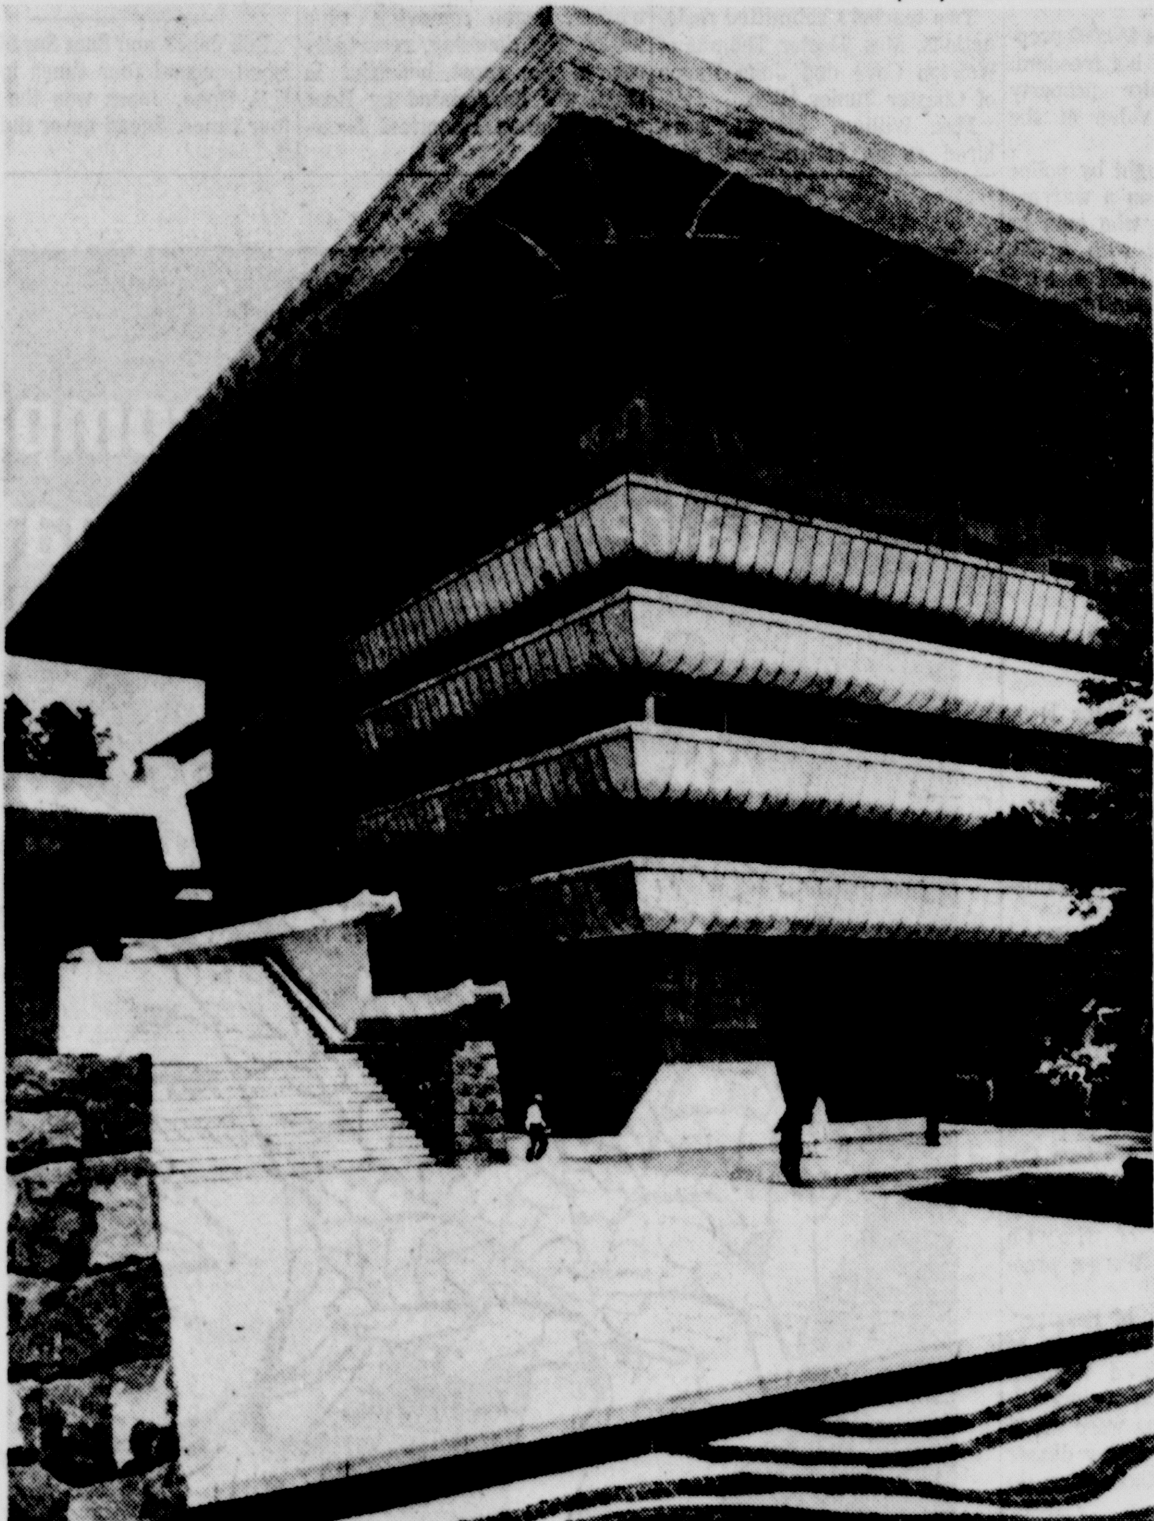

Monks and priests in gray-white robes lead Soka Gakkai members in prayer in massive Great Hall of sect's new temple.

SOKA GAKKAI

Taiseikiji, Soka Gakkai's new temple, is expected to attract three million pilgrims yearly.

Priests in ancient embroidered robes present a contrast to the severe modern lines of Taiseikiji.

Face of Soka Gakkai sect is young. Majority of estimated 10 million members are under 30.

Occidental members chant sutras at Soka Gakkai services. Several hundred Americans belong.

Tasty Onion Ring Bread Is Easy To Make

Bread is the universal food, the "staff of life." The onion, next to salt, is perhaps our favorite flavoring. Put them together and you'll have a breadstuff that's almost certain to please everyone who shares it.

Onion Ring Bread is a savory and fragrant bread with a distinct homemade appeal, but, thanks to today's convenience food items, it doesn't require that you assume Grandmother's demanding bread-making chores.

Your favorite hot roll mix, canned French Fried Onions, one egg, yeast and several standard flavorings are all you'll need to prepare this tempting bread. Only you, of course, know your family's bread-eating capacity, so be sure to make enough—they'll all want more.

Onion Ring Bread

1 package hot roll mix
¾ cup warm, not hot, water
1 egg
2 tablespoons margarine or butter, melted
1 can (3½ oz.) french fried onions, crumbled
½ teaspoon oregano
¼ teaspoon salt
Cayenne
2 tablespoons grated Parmesan Cheese
Yeast
Sprinkle yeast over warm water and stir to dissolve. Stir in egg, then flour mixture. Mix well, cover, and let rise until doubled in bulk.

Punch dough down and on a lightly floured board roll out to a rectangle 14x10 inches. Brush with margarine or butter. Spread onions evenly over the dough and sprinkle with oregano, salt, cayenne, and cheese. Roll up as for jelly roll and place on greased baking sheet.

Moisten ends and join them so that a ring is formed. Cover with towel and let rise until double in bulk. Bake at 375 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes. Serve warm.

The Beatles Make Hit With Society In Film Capital

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The Beatles made their debut in Hollywood society Monday night and scored as big a hit as they do with teen-type audiences.

The shaggy singers from Liverpool were the attraction at a garden party to benefit the Hemophilia Foundation.

It was a question of who was more excited — movie stars' children at seeing the Beatles or the Beatles at seeing the movie stars.

Movie moppets of all sizes attended. John Forsythe brought his Page, 13, Brooke, 10, and Anne, 14.

"They drug me here," he complained mildly.

Jack Palance has his three children in tow. Shelley Winters was busy shooting photos of her Romina, 11.

Edward G. Robinson escorted his granddaughter. "In all my years I've never seen anything like the response these boys get," he remarked.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (AP) — The Most Rev. Walter W. Curtis, Roman Catholic bishop of Bridgeport, says one of his priests has every right to belong to the John Birch Society.

The Rev. Francis E. Fenton, rector of Bridgeport's Blessed Sacrament church, is a member of the national council of the society, a militantly conservative organization.

"As an individual, Father Fenton enjoys the freedom of every American citizen to belong to any organization of his choosing," said Bishop Curtis. "As a priest he continues to enjoy that right."

Father Fenton was reprimanded last year by the diocesan vicar general after he announced support of a petition urging the impeachment of Chief Justice Earl Warren.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I think there is something wrong with my 14-year-old brother but my parents refuse to talk about it.

Matt is in the fifth grade and I know he should be at least in the ninth. He slaps my mother and punches my father and they never say one word to him. Last night at the supper table he threw a glass of water in my father's face. Father just sat there.

I asked him why he didn't punish Matt and he answered, "The boy is a fool and nothing can be done about it."

I worry about my brother because he does such cruel and hurtful things. Last week he put my little puppy, Perky, in the freezing compartment of the refrigerator. If I hadn't accidentally found Perky she would have been dead within the hour.

I've begged my mother to talk to the minister about Matt but she says, "This is our cross and we must bear it."

Please tell me what should be done.—AFRAID SISTER.

Dear Sister: Matt should be receiving special care and guidance, not only for his own good and his own protection, but for the safety and peace of mind of those around him.

Parents do the mentally handicapped child no favor when they treat such a child as if he were normal.

Ask your mother to speak to the family physician at once and ask for his advice.

Gum Gummer

Dear Ann: I know you have mentioned this problem in your column before but people need to be reminded periodically. They seem to forget. I'm referring to the obnoxious habit of chewing gum with the mouth wide open.

A woman in our office chews from the minute she sits down at her desk until she leaves at night. We call her "The Old Corn Popper." Not only does the gum go crackle and snap but the dentures go click, click, clack until you could go right straight through the ceiling.

Can it be that this person does not hear herself? I find it difficult to believe. I must conclude that she has no consideration for others.

Please, please, please print this letter, Ann. I will tack it on our bulletin board. Thanks from the bottom of my heart.—SOS

To Whom It May Concern: If you are reading this from an office bulletin board and have gum in your mouth, you

Dances, Applauds Keynoter

Luci Makes Whirlwind Entry At Convention Site

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Luci Johnson made a whirlwind entry into the convention scene, dancing the frug, walking the Boardwalk and applauding the convention keynoter.

The first of the Johnson family to arrive here, 17-year-old Luci sampled lobster and frozen custard Monday and looked over the oceanfront home her family is to occupy.

She seemed to find everything satisfactory and decided to go to work today with friends at the headquarters of Young Citizens for Johnson.

The President's daughter told "Teen-Dems" and Young Citizens anything they could do from "licking envelopes to running errands" would help her father's campaign.

She said she came to pitch in, too, because she realized "my generation has responsibilities."

Luci put off the work for a while, though, to look over the sights.

She signed autographs, picked up LBJ buttons and went shopping in two stores along the oceanfront.

Her only purchase — a pair of $6.95 rope and leather sandals, size 6, medium.

They probably will come in handy on the campaign job today. A teen-worker advised the President's daughter to "wear flat shoes and a dirty dress" when she reported for headquarters duty.

Luci was supposed to wait until Wednesday to come here with her mother and sister, Lynda, 20. But she begged to come ahead and flew in to open the Young Democrats' headquarters and decided to go to work today with friends at the headquarters of Young Citizens for Johnson.

Wearing coat and dress of pale blue to match her eyes, with a pert white bow on her black hair, Luci climaxed the day by taking a front row seat in the presidential box at the convention's opening session and applauding the speakers.

Bath Houses Crowded

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP) — Before the city was established, bathers changed their clothes in the midst of wild growths, making a small clearing without roof, and these were the "bath-houses" when Atlantic City was founded.

Hanoverton Boy Free After Week Detention

LISBON — William K. Syx, 16, of Hanoverton was released today from detention at the County Jail, after serving a week and paying a $25 fine imposed by Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin Aug. 17.

Syx was sentenced to the Boys Industrial School but the penalty was suspended by Judge Tobin after he admitted to Salem police that he had forged and tried to cash a check.

Syx had appeared before Judge Tobin on June 8 and was placed on probation and his driver's license was suspended, but he violated the terms by obtaining and driving a car and was out after his 7 p.m. curfew without his parents.

The curfew will remain in effect and he must report each week to Constable Roy Painter at Hanoverton on days he designates.

The judge warned any further violation of probation will result in commitment to the industrial school. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Syx.

Carty Leads Attack As Milwaukee Turns Back Phillies

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
Rico Carty of the Milwaukee Braves admits he was a bit over-anxious about breaking into organized baseball. He signed with just about every club in the Dominican Republic. And with San Francisco. And Cincinnati. And he had his runaway pen in hand, ready to sign with St. Louis, when Milwaukee protested. But the Braves haven't protested since. A 24-year-old outfielder making a bid for Rookie of the Year honors in the National League, Carty slammed five straight hits — a homer, three doubles and a single — as the Braves walloped the first-place Philadelphia Phillies 12-9 Monday night. Carty has hit like that in the Braves' chain ever since they took his ink well away by appealing to the late George Trautman, then the president of the minors. Seems that Carty — "I was just a kid and I didn't realize what I was doing" — had signed with the Estrellas club in the Dominican Republic before winning his pen for the Giants and Reds. The Estrellas club had sold Carty to the Braves. Against the Phillies, Carty doubled in the first, singled in the second, homered in the fourth and doubled in the fifth and the seventh, lifting his average from .312 to .323 with the spurt while bringing his home run output to 13 and his runs batted in total to 56. The loss trimmed the Phillies' lead to 6½ games over the San Francisco Giants, who broke a tie for second place with Cincinnati by defeating the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-2. In other NL action, St. Louis whipped Pittsburgh 5-1 and Houston blanked the Chicago Cubs 2-0. The Chicago White Sox, meanwhile, lost an opportunity to gain ground on American League-leading Baltimore, falling two games behind the Orioles after a 4-3 loss to Minnesota in the only game on the schedule. Carty led a 16-hit Milwaukee attack against five Philadelphia pitchers. Hank Aaron chipped in with his 22nd homer and three runs batted in while Eddie Mathews collected three hits. Wes Covington supplied most of the fireworks for the Phillies, driving in six runs with two homers and a pair of doubles. Clay Dalrymple also homered for Philadelphia. The Giants put it away against the Dodgers in the first inning with a four-run outburst helped along by Tommy Davis' error on a Willie Mays liner. That produced one run, a grounder by Orlando Cepeda drove in the second and Jim Hart finished things up with a two-run homer. The Dodgers scored their only runs in the first on a homer by Willie Davis, then were shut out the rest of the way by Jim Duffalo. Duffalo, who hadn't pitched a complete game since 1961, allowed only six hits. The Twins scored twice in the second inning against the White Sox with the aid of an error by Al Weis, and added two more in the third on singles by Rich Rollins, Tony Oliva and Zoilo Versalles. Then they held on as the White Sox muffed their opportunities. The White Sox had the potential tying runs on in the sixth, but Jim Kaat picked Don Buford off first to end the inning. Chicago then closed to within one run in the eighth, but reliever Al Worthington got Moose Skowron and Buford on short flies with the tying run on third. Bill White hit a two-run homer for the Cardinals in the eighth and Ken Boyer followed with another homer, taking the pressure off Bob Gibson. Gibson was working on a 2-1 lead at that point and wound up with a six-hitter while striking out 12. Pitcher Bob Bruce, who allowed only two hits, got the Colts winning rally started in the eighth inning with a single off Lou Burdette. Walt Bond's single and an error on the play by Billy Williams let both runs score. Hal Woodeshick pitched the ninth for Houston after Bruce hurt his back.

Browns To Stick With Vet Groza

By The Associated Press
There were 28 seconds remaining on the clock. Cleveland's Lou Groza calmly lined up his field goal attempt with the Browns trailing the Los Angeles Rams 28-27 in the National Football League championship game. As Groza approached the ball for the all-important kick, on the sidelines, the Browns already were heaving their helmets in the air in a sign of victory. That was 13 years ago, and Groza justified the Browns' confidence, kicking the winning field goal. Once again, Monday, the Browns expressed their confidence in Groza, now a 40-year-old veteran of 18 professional football seasons, by trading rookie kicking specialist Dick Van Raaphorst to the Dallas Cowboys for an undisclosed draft choice. There had been speculation that Van Raaphorst, a 10th round draft choice from Ohio State tutored by Groza, would replace his teacher as the Browns extra point and field goal kicker. "I feel good this year and will

Ordinary Marksmen Gun Today

By FRITZ HOWELL
VANDALIA, Ohio (AP)—The ordinary marksmen get their chance today in the 65th Grand American Trapshoot as the oldsters and the youngsters had their innings in Monday's opening event. Class championships in five divisions were to be decided in today's 200-target, 16-yard race with each shooter firing against those of comparable ability. This is not one of the "Roaring Grand's" big money races. Each shooter must pay $15 to enter and $20 for shotgun shells, and the high gunner in each class receives only $65. Only the top three in each division are assured a profit. A 61-year-old woman, a 71-year-old man and a 13-year-old, 92-pound boy were the standouts Monday as the week-long clay target carnival got under way. A field of 822 competed for various minor titles in the 200-target race, and among the winners were: Woman veteran—Mrs. Dorothy Van Marker, Versailles, Ohio, a 61-year-old grandmother of three, 97 of 100. Men's veteran—C. W. Huler of Hughes, Ark., 71-year-old retired liquor store owner, 98 of 100, defeated W. W. Warner, Yardley, Pa., in a shoot-off. Junior—Roy Lee Johnston of Covina, Calif., 13-year-old eighth grader, 198 of 200, defeated Ricky McGarry of Niagara Falls, N.Y., in a shoot-off. Husband-wife—John and Doris Voss, Omaha, Neb., 393 of 400. Father-son—Robert L. and Roy Lee Johnston, Covina, Calif., 394 of 400. Brother-brother—Ricky and Carl McGarry, Niagara Falls, N.Y., 394 of 400. Women's—Glady Pfost, Phillipsburg, Kan., 196 of 200, defeated Mrs. Voss and Susan S. Hardy, Devon, Pa., in a shoot-off. Roger Crozier, goalie for the Pittsburgh Hornets, was chosen the American Hockey League's top rookie last season. Crozier also played for the Detroit Red Wings last season.

Fullback Ferguson Becomes Free Agent
BEMIDJI, Minn. (AP) — Former Viking fullback Bob Ferguson became a free agent Monday when no other National Football League club claimed him. He was placed on waivers last Thursday by the Minnesota club following a showdown with Coach Norm Van Brocklin. Ferguson now is free to make a deal for himself with any NFL or Canadian League team, or with the New York Jets of the American Football League, which has rights to him in that circuit. However, when Ferguson departed the Viking training camp last week, he indicated his playing days are over. He now is at his home in Columbus, Ohio.

Despite Trade Of Dial Parker Gives Pittsburgh Better Chance This Year

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
KINGSTON, R.I. (AP) — Buddy Parker gives his Pittsburgh Steelers a better chance to win the National Football League's Eastern Conference title this year than he did a year ago despite the trade of Buddy Dial for a drafted phantom who didn't sign. Parker has spent most of the off-season defending the Dial deal in which the Steelers sent their flanker back to Dallas for the draft rights to Scott Appleton, the All-America tackle from Texas. Appleton finally decided to sign with Houston in the rival American Football League, leaving Parker without a tackle—and without Dial. "We were just unlucky that we couldn't sign the boy," said Parker. "If I had to do it all over again, I'd do the same thing but I might not take the same boy. We needed defensive linemen more than we needed Dial." The hope in Pittsburgh is that Paul Marth, a rookie from Pitt, eventually will take over Dial's job. To ease the pressure on the youngster, Parker has shaken up his receivers. Talented Gary Ballman has been moved to flanker ahead of Marth and Pres Carpenter slides over to split end, leaving John Powers and rookie Jim Kelley, two Notre Dame grads, to fight it out at tight end. The Steelers came within one game of winning their first championship last fall. A victory over New York on the final day would have given them the title. Instead they lost and dropped all the way to fourth. "I think we have a better chance to win than I did at this time last year," Parker says. "We don't have too much bench but we should be better if we can stay healthy." "Last year we ran the ball more than anybody in the league, about 60 per cent of the time. This year I want to see us throw a little more." If the Steelers do throw more it will be up to Ed Brown, the veteran quarterback whose off-

Constellation Nears Goal As Yacht Entry

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — Constellation has moved a step closer to selection as the yacht to defend the America's Cup next month, beating American Eagle again to remain undefeated in the final trials.

Constellation, with Bob Bavier at the helm, scored a 4 minute and 15 second victory over American Eagle Monday, giving her a 6-0 record in the final trials.

U.S. Doubles Team Wins

CHESNUT HILL, Mass. (AP) — Dennis Ralston and Chuck McKinley, the young men who returned the United States to world tennis supremacy, are one-third of the way home toward an impossible goal.

"Mission one-third accomplished," shouted the 22-year-old Ralston after he and McKinley had demolished the English duo of Mike Sangster and Graham Stillwell 6-3, 6-2, 6-4 Monday and captured their third National Doubles Tennis Championship.

"Our goals for the summer," Ralston said, "have been this — win the national doubles and retire the cups. Then Forest Hills."

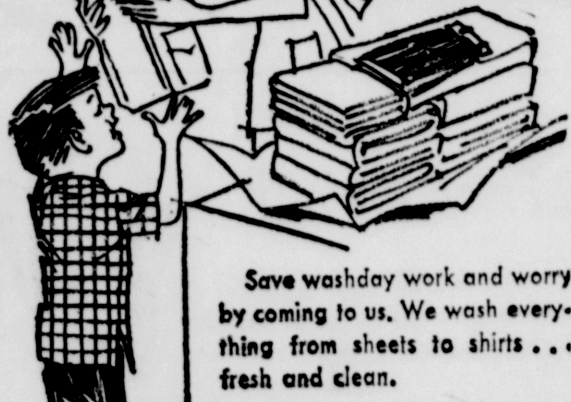

That's where the quest becomes impossible.

"Naturally we can't both win the singles, but we'll both be trying," Ralston said. "One of us should win it."

"Then here's the Davis Cup. We've got to show that it was no fluke in Australia, by keeping it."

McKinley, 23, and Ralston, 22-year-old Southern California student, were the key factors in the United States' Davis Cup triumph a year ago.

Hints from Heloise.

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: If you want to stop painting for a few hours, overnight or even a week, just wrap your brush tightly in several folds of newspaper (enough to cover the bristles), fold up the bottom of the paper and insert in a can of water. Be sure the water covers the brush. The newspaper fold helps to retain the shape of the brush. To resume painting, merely remove the newspaper and discard. A few flicks of the wrist will cause the excess water to leave the brush and you are back in business!

The real beauty of this method is the cost of water versus the cost of cleaner, turpentine, etc!

LT. COL. CALVIN TIDLER.

DEAR HELOISE: I'm the mother of one child and one husband (guess we all feel like this at times—Heloise), but my two can mess up the bathroom as much as 10 . . . especially towels.

So I put a roll of paper towels on a holder in the bathroom for them to use for drying their hands. Also, when I clean the bathroom I just tear off a towel and go to work. (My husband and little girl just love the paper towels—and my guests like the idea, also.)

HAPPY HOUSEWIFE.

DEAR HELOISE: I always had trouble remembering which beater (square or round) goes into which socket in the electric mixer.

I solved this by painting a one-fourth-inch ring of red nail polish near the top of one of the beaters and another ring on its corresponding socket.

Now it only takes a second to match the red rings.

TEEN-AGE READER.

Now, aren't you a tricky one! Your mother should be proud of you. I sure am.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Before I cut out any garment to sew, I measure the pattern with a dress that I know fits well.

Since the current fashion sizes are more a state of mind than an actual dimension (as well as the fact that different pattern brands have different proportions for the same size pattern), this is the only method I have found to be sure the bodice is not too long or too short, the sleeves too full or too skimpy, etc.

This can prevent lots of heartaches, particularly for somewhat inexperienced sewers.

PAULINE.

DEAR HELOISE: Use pipe cleaners to close plastic bags you have filled with food to put in your freezer.

Twist the pipe cleaner around the bag. This method of sealing is much quicker and easier than using a rubber band or hot-seal method, and it makes a tight seal.

Both the plastic bag and the pipe cleaner can be used over and over, whereas with the heat-seal method, the bag cannot be re-used. Paper-covered wire closures cannot be re-used as often, for the paper comes off, leaving exposed wire which is likely to cut or tear the plastic bag.

PHYLIS.

DEAR HELOISE: I think I have a better household hint than the woman who wrote that she shined her husband's shoes with an old nylon stocking. . . . I let my husband and the children do their own shoes!

EDYTHE AVESA.

DEAR HELOISE: I keep sugar in a large plastic pitcher with a lid. It is so easy to pour sugar into my measuring cups when I'm cooking.

The spout can be closed to keep the sugar dry and I don't have any spilled sugar on the counter top.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Tuesday, Aug. 25, the 238th day of 1964. There are 128 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1944, the German commander in Paris surrendered the city.

On this date: In 1835, Ann Rutledge died in New Salem, Ill., sending young Abraham Lincoln into grief described as approaching madness.

In 1939, Britain and Poland signed a mutual assistance treaty.

In 1945, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced the final signing of surrender terms with Japan would be delayed until September because of typhoons.

Ten years ago — Nationalist Chinese President Chiang Kai-shek appealed for aid to victims of the worst flood in more than 100 years on the Yangtze and Hwai rivers on the Communist-held mainland.

Five years ago — The Chinese Communists admitted that their production figures for 1958 had been grossly overstated in an earlier announcement.

Bringing Up A Family

By DR. GARRY MYERS

Your School Child And His Allowance

If your child had an allowance during the last school year, there may have been some lapses and irregularities in its operation during the summer.

Looking forward to his return to school, you may want to check with this child on his weekly budgeted allowance; also to check on yourself on having the correct amount of his allowance ready for him on a regular day.

Suppose, as this child is hurrying off to school, he reminds you of the allowance. If you don't have the correct amount, you may scrape up enough change for the day.

Or you may have nothing but a five dollar bill. Then you would expect him to keep account of this money. But you may forget about it and all sorts of problems may arise.

SUPPOSE this happens on many school mornings. How is this child going to learn to operate well on a budgeted allowance? Indeed, before you know it, you may be doling money out to him nearly every school-day morning.

In order to avoid such problems, one of you parents should take sole responsibility for handing the correct amount on hand at the regular allowance time.

It may be better for all concerned if each child regularly received his allowance in the evening, say on Sunday.

An allowance has different meanings for different parents and children. Some think of it as pocket money. Then the child is given a certain amount to use as long as it lasts.

He may be told he should try to make it last for a certain number of days. If he doesn't come up to expectation, he may be rebuked or an argument between him and the parent may ensue. Or the parent might require him to render an itemized account of how he spent a certain amount before he receives more money.

His MAKING an itemized account would seem to be a valuable experience. But, as you can see, the temptation to fake some items would be very great. A true budgeted allowance would remove such temptation.

This true budgeted allowance will itemize the necessary regular expenditures before the total allowance is received. Working together, the child and parent will arrive at a reasonable budget — so much for regular total daily needs, say for a week.

It would include such regular items as school lunch, the estimated amount named for each such item. To the total of these items would be added a small sum known as "pocket money" for the week, which the child could spend about as he pleases.

As the child grows older, more of his regular needs would be included in this budgeted allowance.

When unexpected, yet reasonable, needs arose, such as a special drama or musical program for the school, an extra sum would be provided. From time to time the parent and child would review this budgeted allowance to make sure it was reasonably adequate.

The youngster would have no occasion to make an itemized report, but would be expected to make his allowance last for the period.

If you are using a kitchen scissors for cutting caramels or other hard-type candy, you may wish to grease or oil the blades.

Barge Line Hauls Shipment Of Clay

A Union Barge Line Corp. covered hopper barge has just completed a trip from Paris, Tenn., to Kittanning, Pa., that the company said may have a far-reaching effect on the ceramics industry in the United States.

The cargo was West Tennessee ball clay, used in making vitreous china sanitary plumbing fixtures, and it was the first river barge shipment of the material to a manufacturing plant in the Upper Ohio Valley.

Harry S. Carothers, sales manager and vice president of the H. C. Spinks Clay Co. of Paris, which shipped the material, sees the switch to water transportation as a "considerable saving" for his customers, a factor which presumably could affect their competitive position.

Plumbingware Division of the Murray Corp. of America. The clay was trucked from Kittanning to Eljer's plant at Ford City.

Story On Johnson-Kennedy Parley

By DAVID WISE
Herald Tribune News Service
WASHINGTON — The full story of the fascinating confrontation between President Johnson and Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy July 29 at the White House has now emerged.

History takes place behind closed doors in Washington. But days, months, or, more often, years later the facts filter out.

The story of what happened when President Johnson told Robert Kennedy, with some relish, that he would not be the vice presidential nominee has leaked out more rapidly than most.

THE STORY has been pieced together from both sides in the power struggle, and there is minor disagreement over some points. But, allowing for differences in nuance, shadings and faulty memories, here, essentially, is what happened:

Johnson phoned Kennedy Monday, July 27, and asked him to come to the White House. The 38-year-old attorney general had hoped for a long time that he might be selected for vice president.

Despite the assassination of his brother, President John F. Kennedy, the Kennedy name then would be on the national ticket this November.

Robert Kennedy, whose political intelligence system is excellent, may have had some inkling of what was coming. For he told Johnson he had to go out of town on Kennedy Library business, and was it urgent that he come right over?

JOHNSON, who never has been politically or personally close to the attorney general, assumed Kennedy was trying to put a thermometer in his mouth to feel out the situation. "Oh, no," he told the attorney general blandly, "it's nothing important."

He advised Kennedy to go right ahead and keep his Tuesday appointment and drop by on Wednesday.

The attorney general went to New York on Tuesday, July 28, for his meeting of the trustees of the Kennedy Memorial Library.

At 1 p.m. Wednesday, Kennedy was in the President's oval office in the White House. The President read from a statement on his desk, a statement he had prepared three days before. It went like this:

"Ever since San Francisco, I have been thinking about the vice presidency. You have a bright future, a great name and courage, but you have not been in government very long. I have given you serious consideration but find it inadvisable to pick you."

JOHNSON, not unaware of the drama of the moment, was watching Kennedy closely. The President is said to have thought he saw the attorney general swallow at that point.

For Robert Kennedy, the vice presidency would have been the surest path to the 1972 Democratic presidential nomination. Perhaps he will yet reach the White House by another road. But, very possibly, the words that had just been spoken by President Johnson meant Robert Kennedy never would be president of the United States.

The President told the attorney general he did not want him to run for vice president right up to the Democratic National Convention.

"I don't want you to tell me I should have told you earlier," the President added.

HAVING RULED Kennedy out as his running mate, the President offered some comfort. He indicated that the attorney general would not have been happy as vice president anyway because of the limited nature of the job.

"As vice president," he said, "even though I worked 24 hours a day, it was the most difficult job I ever had. I was miserable."

The President asked Kennedy to run his campaign, along with presidential aides Kenneth O'Donnell and Lawrence O'Brien.

It was not clear, however, whether Johnson was asking the attorney general to manage and direct the Johnson campaign, as Kennedy did for his brother in 1960, or whether he simply was being asked to participate in running the campaign.

AT THAT POINT, there was discussion of whether Nicholas B. Katzenbach, deputy attorney general, would be named attorney general if Kennedy resigned to aid in the campaign.

There also was discussion of how to announce to the world that the attorney general would not be Johnson's vice presidential choice. The President suggested that Kennedy might want to say publicly that he had decided he no longer wanted to be considered for the vice presidency. Kennedy did not agree to this, however.

As the strained, historic meeting broke up, and as Kennedy was leaving, he said to the President:

"I could have helped you a lot."

"You are going to help," the President replied.

IMMEDIATELY afterward, Kennedy met at the White House with O'Donnell and O'Brien, two of the late President Kennedy's closest political lieutenants, who both have remained on under President Johnson. The attorney general related the substance of his meeting with the President.

Back at the Justice Department, he called in Katzenbach and the assistant attorneys general and told them the news. He also thanked his aides for their loyal support.

At 5 p.m. the same day —

Wednesday, July 29 — Kennedy received a telephone call from McGeorge Bundy, special assistant to the President for national security. Bundy reportedly urged Kennedy to make a public statement taking himself out of the vice presidential race.

ANGRILY, Kennedy said he could not do that. It would be letting his supporters down.

Bundy then is reported to have suggested that the attorney general leak the story to a columnist of the New York Times. Kennedy said he could not, and repeated this reason.

The attorney general's camp is furious over Bundy's role, since they felt that Bundy, who was brought to Washington by President Kennedy, was acting "disloyally" at the behest of President Johnson.

It was then up to President Johnson to break the news publicly. He tried to do so obliquely at a press conference in his office just before noon Thursday, July 30. But the message did not get across.

Johnson then drafted a statement announcing he would not select a member of the cabinet or sub-cabinet for the vice presidency. He showed it to O'Donnell, who, although an aide to President Johnson, was in the peculiar position of also speaking for the attorney general.

THE PRESIDENT asked O'Donnell to get Kennedy's approval of the statement. O'Donnell said that wouldn't be necessary.

"Do you mean you're giving me authorization?" the President asked.

"Yes," said O'Donnell.

At 6:10 p.m. Thursday, Johnson held his second press conference of the day and read his statement ruling out cabinet officers — i.e., Kennedy.

And that was the end of the drama, the most fascinating political power struggle in the recent history of this nation.

entry—approved Saturday by three of the five court members—ordering withdrawal of appraisal records dealing with the assessments.

In view of this, Columbus city attorney John C. Young said he hopes to meet today with City Council members to discuss possible withdrawal of the city's suit.

William R. Fornoff, City Council president, said efforts should be made to have conservancy laws changed by the 1965 legislature. Then, he said, the Scioto Conservancy District could continue to work on projects other than those the Army Engineers are expected to build.

The district originally was formed in 1934 and involved 17 counties. It was reorganized in 1961 to include Franklin, Ross, Pickaway, Pike and Scioto counties. In the next 15 months, before the present legal problems, directors worked out a $79.6-million plan for 11 flood control projects.

Two Suspended Policemen Face Hearing Today

CLEVELAND (AP)—Two suspended Cleveland policemen accused of taking $10 in an alleged shakedown of a 19-year-old motorist were to have a hearing today before Police Chief Richard E. Wagner.

The patrolmen, Wayne Airey, 36, and Stanley Olbrys, 34, were suspended late Monday following an investigation by Safety Director John N. McCormick and his chief aide.

Neither patrolman was charged and both denied any wrongdoing. They accused the youth of "throwing" the marked money into their cruiser early Monday. Investigators said they found a marked $5 bill in the wallet of one of the accused officers.

The youth was identified as Orville C. Pryor Jr., a student at Ohio University. His car was stopped because it had only one headlight.

NAACP Meeting Held On Voter Registration

Voter registration in East Liverpool was the chief topic of discussion when two state NAACP officials met with the Executive Board of the East Liverpool chapter Monday night at the home of the president, Alonzo Spencer, 1233 Pennsylvania Ave.

Nathaniel Lee of Youngstown, state NAACP president, and Ralph W. Clark of Columbus, state youth chairman, discussed the registration campaign, which is a statewide effort.

The board also discussed local employment and legal representation in East Liverpool with the two officials.

Slain Girl Buried, Boy, 13, Being Held

CINCINNATI (AP)—Little 4-year-old Debbie Dappen was buried Monday after services in suburban Fairfax Presbyterian Church at which her mother asked the community not to "persecute" the family of Debbie's accused slayer.

Hamilton County juvenile authorities are holding George Rickey Jr., 13, who admitted to police early Saturday he killed Debbie on Aug. 19 and hid her body. Rickey lives in the same block as Mr. and Mrs. Karl Dappen, Debbie's parents. Debbie's disappearance started a massive search in Fairfax, a village of 2,500 on Cincinnati's eastern edge. The search ended shortly before midnight Friday when a newsman found her body under the Rickeys' porch.

OTTAWA, Ohio — The Republican candidate for Ohio's Congressional at-large seat—Rep. Oliver P. Bolton—has taken another swipe at the Johnson administration's handling of the Bobby Baker scandal in the Senate.

He told a Putnam County GOP meeting Monday night that the administration had "swept the Baker case under the rug" and has "failed to deal decisively" with corruption in government.

Most Charming People In America

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. The room seemed to be filled with trophies: a huge bear, a moose head with a bent horn, a swordfish with a fisherman's foot still clenched in its mouth.

But the real mood of the place was in its red plush walls and funeral lighting — a living room right out of the New Yorker cartoons of Charles Addams. Indeed, a troupe of courageous actors was at that moment running (or stalking) through the paces of a new ABC-TV series called "The Addams Family," the mortuary humors of which will be exhumed each Friday night at 8:30.

A FAT LITTLE BOY and a witch-like and terribly cute — little girl (Ken Weatherwax, Lisa Loring) came tumbling down the spooky staircase on cue and ran to hug their vampirish mama, Morticia (Carolyn Jones).

Uncle Fester, round-bellied, round-eyed and bald (Jackie Coogan), grinned wittily at them all from behind the sofa.

Gomez, the swarthy husband (John Astin), strode across the carpet, struck a match against the giant statue of a two-headed tortoise, and tugged a a hangman's rope near the fireplace, summoning Lurch, the butler. And in he came (Ted Cassidy), a towering, 6-foot-9, slab-handed young man out of Dallas, Tex. Cassidy's long face would work in well at Mount Rushmore and his basso voice seems to be coming from a crypt somewhere down the path.

"I MOVE through the house as though I were a part of it," he rumbled between scenes. "I glide from room to room, sweeping as closely to people and things as I can. But silently."

"My character? I wouldn't call it exactly good natured, just misunderstood." "These people aren't zombies," said David Levy, creator and executive producer of the series. "They are just the most charming people in America." Levy got the idea for the series some time ago as he and a companion stopped at the window of a book store on Manhattan's 5th Ave.

There, a volume of Addams cartoons was opened to a drawing of the "family" — all seven of them.

"You may not know it," Levy told his friend, "but you've just seen my next TV series."

ASTIN, a far cry from his appearance in the "Dickens and Fenster" series, sports a heavy black mustache now, has dark smudges around his eyes and wears a pin-stripe suit that may have been owned by a Mafia agent in 1915.

"Gomez," said Astin, "lives sweetly in the past, holding on to the older values. His dance, naturally, is the bolero. 'He's the sort who would unloose a string of Spanish epithets when he hears the fairy tale they've told one of his children in school—that a knight in shining armor has killed the dragon. His little girl is in tears. Gomez flies into a rage. 'His love scenes with Morticia, incidentally, are pretty torrid, and I think we'll be the greatest love team since Garbo and Gilbert."

LITTLE Lisa Loring skipped by, a live chameleon clinging to her collar. An electrician muttered, "Chameleons are nothin'." We spent two hours yesterday looking for the iguana that got away.

"Oh, we'll have Iron Maidens, I suppose," said David Levy, "but only for decoration. It will only be to ease a guest's bursters."

Carolyn Jones swept off to her dressing room, strangely lovely in her long black wig and her clinging black weeds. She showed me the flowers someone had sent her two days before — the first day of shooting.

"Appropriately enough," she said, "they are spider chrysanthemums. And look at this bouquet. It was delivered dead, the card expressing the sender's deepest sympathies. Here's a telegram: 'Keep those bat wings flying.'"

"I LOVE the wig, and the dress. Actually, my costume isn't just rags, tattered sleeves and slinky train; it looks planned."

"Charles Addams saw me in the gown and loved it. He said, 'Why not have Morticia throw open her closet at one point, and there are hanging 50 just like it.' "Morticia has chosen it carefully, after all — not out of necessity, but because she's never found anything she likes better."

The script girl leaned into the room and offered us a tray of cookies: "Want one?"

There was a choice: the ones with the icing design of a bat, or the ones with an adder on them.

ICC Urged To Approve Rail Merger

WASHINGTON (AP) — An examiner has recommended that the Interstate Commerce Commission approve the unification of five railroads into the nation's largest system — nearly 25,000 miles.

The proposal approved Monday by examiner Robert H. Murphy calls for the merger of four lines — the Great Northern Railway, the Northern Pacific Railway, the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad and the Pacific Coast Railroad — and a 10-year lease on the Spokane, Portland and Seattle Railway.

If approved by the full commission, the combined system — to be known as the Great Northern Pacific & Burlington Lines, Inc. — would have assets of more than $2.6 billion and annual income of more than $775 million.

Murphy said the system would be the largest railroad in the United States in terms of miles of road and geographic distribution, and the third largest in annual revenues.

He recommended a number of conditions that would require maintenance of open routes, gateways and channels of trade; the opening of important new gateways to competing railroads; and protection of adversely affected railroad employees.

Murphy's recommendations were denounced in Cleveland, Ohio, by H. E. Gilbert, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, who called the decision "another victory for monopoly interests."

"The recommended merger," Gilbert said in a statement, "would be a surrender to the financial interests that seek greater profit from minimum service, jobs will be cut by at least 30 per cent and many communities will find themselves with either no rail service or relegated to branch line status."

2 Brothers Killed, 6 Injured In Wreck

BELLEVUE, Ohio (AP) — A two-car crash a mile and a half east of here left a 7-year-old North Monroeville boy and his baby brother dead and six persons hospitalized. Killed in the wreck at the intersection of Ohio 4 and 113 Monday were Ranier E. Kramer and his nine-month-old brother, James.

A sister, Sheila, 4, and the children's mother, Louise, 30, were admitted to Providence Hospital in Sandusky. Four occupants of the other car were admitted to Bellevue Hospital. They are the driver, Ben Z. Dyer, 51, of Upper Sandusky, Mrs. Ruth M. Schultz, 44, of Tiffin, and her two sons, Carl, 14, and John, 11.

Girl Dies At Pool

CLEVELAND (AP) — A 6-year-old girl who underwent open heart surgery two years ago died Monday at an indoor swimming pool. A life-guard at the Fairfax Recreation Center pool noticed the girl, Phyllis Hewlett, being supported by a friend along the edge of the pool. He administered artificial respiration, but failed to revive the girl.

To Quiz Engineer

CLEVELAND (AP) — Police planned to question today the engineer of a New York Central Railroad freight train they said struck and killed a 42-year-old NYC switchman. Donald H. Herron of Willowick, was killed by the 75-car train Monday. His severed body was found at the Kille and Buffalo roads crossing.

In 1963, 18,812 vessels passed through the Cape Cod Canal.

Basque Festivals

Basque summer festivals and picnics in the western United States combine an old-fashioned barbecue, street carnival and Spanish fiesta.

American Basques — descendants of Pyrenees shepherders — who now live in Idaho, California, Oregon, Utah and Nevada, gather often to preserve their cherished customs.

The food is traditional — and plentiful. Hot barbecued lamb, spicy little sausages, savory Basque beans and crusty bread are washed down with good red wine squeezed from leather or wineskins.

The men work off their meals with wood-chopping and weight-lifting contests. Women run a race that calls for skill as well as speed: Each must balance a bucket of water on her head as she sprints.

Men, women and children whirl and stomp through high-spirited Basque folk dances, accompanied by accordion, tambourine and flute. Many dancers dress in the gay black, white and red Basque costumes. Red or black berets are everywhere.

The summer festivals and the Shepherders Ball at Christmastime in Boise, Idaho, are among the strongest remnants of Basque culture in the American west. The Basques have become assimilated into local communities and their old ways are fading from everyday life. To retain the parental tongue, a youth group in Boise recently started a class in the different Basque language.

This 'n That

It is not necessary to oil molds that are to hold a gelatin mixture; the oiling does not help in removing the set dessert or salad.

Up-to-the-minute advice from an old-fashioned cook book: "Some may like their steak well done, but it is not a taste to be commended."

India is the most "barefoot country" in the world, with almost 82 per cent of the population habitually going barefoot.

Junior Editors Quiz on
PLASTICS

QUESTION: How are plastics made?

ANSWER: "Plastic" means able to be moulded, and since the first plastics were shaped by pressure, this name was adopted by the makers. Articles made of plastic are different from other man-made objects. Take a wooden log and you can make paper from it; but the paper is still pulp—wood in another form. But in making plastics, the basic raw materials are changed into something new and different.

Many plastics start with simple raw materials such as water, air, coal, limestone and salt. These are treated in different ways, by squeezing, heating, distilling and so on suggested in pictures to right) producing other materials such as ethylene, ammonia, formaldehyde, etc. In the process, the tiny invisible building blocks of matter, the molecules, are arranged in new ways; this process, called polymerization, is producing new products. Among them are the synthetic resins, such as those of the important urea, vinyl, phenolic and polystyrene groups. Taking these, the plastics manufacturer, by various processes of heating, casting, squeezing and so on, makes the amazing variety of light, waterproof, tough objects we all use today in our everyday lives.

FOR YOU TO DO: Write down the variety of qualities plastics have. You will write "hard" or "tough", but then think of the plastic cheeks of Lisa's doll which she is pinching to make her purse her lips, and you will also have to write "flexible." Think of any others?

Cathy Krzeczowski of Lodi, N.J., wins today's combined prize of Compton's Illustrated Science Dictionary plus $10 cash for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review and you may win the weekly grand prize of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia.
